The debunker on the show shifted his eyes so fast, and so often, I kept wondering what he was trying to hide from us. All his body language said was 'do not believe me'.
As for the lighthouse explanation: how could these people, having worked at this place countless times before, suddenly see a lighthouse beam as an alien device, and yet never again (except for the two other episodes)?

Next Friday, September 27, 1991 on TNT at 3:45 A.M. E.S.T. there is a documentary called 'UFO.' It was made in 1956.

I seem to vaguely recall seeing this when I was a kid. I believe that it dealt with the overflights of UFOs over Washington, D.C., and other assorted stuff of the time. As I recall, and I was only a kid, it was interested. So, if you got a Video recorder, this is a must from a historical perspective. Looking at the T.V. guide is looks like it might run 2 hours and 15 minutes, but you can never be sure.

Greetings to all

I couldn't agree with John more...except to say that I feel we've 'hit the skids' already! Ufology has truly become a "War of the Words".

I was just conversing with a man in Chicago, who's been involved in ufology since Roswell. He's now in his mid 70's and told me he knows little more about the phenomenon at present than he did 40 years ago. Recently, he has lost interest, and is selling off his book collection.

Betty Hill is giving up lecturing at conferences because she says there are now too many 'flakes' in the field. Even she does not believe there have been as many 'abductions' as people claim.

Now, every black helicopter spotted is part of the cover-up. Each new aircraft developed is touted as being a byproduct of 'alien' technology. Every television commercial involving ET's or UFO's is part of the government's 'adjustment and preparation' campaign. 'Mysterious' objects, implants, etc. are being found everywhere, but nothing definitive ever comes of these 'breakthroughs'. Our incessant hunger for more information is fed by the purveyors of trash in the UFO periodicals. 'Fringe group' conferences abound everywhere. Stanton Friedman even operates a '900' line where for $2.00/minute, you can listen to old UFO material. What a rip-off! Is that any way for a scientist to gain credibility?

Everyone seems to collect books, videos, documents, and case histories - but to what end? This doesn't really bring us any closer to the truth, but it does help line the providers pockets. So, where do I think we're all headed? I guess I'll just have to

'channel' some Atlantean and find out. <grin>

Jim,
  Thanks for the work you did getting it all in here. I think Maury is mad at me, huh? I don't get it though. I thought we were talking about cockpit lights, then suddenly we're talking about tail lights and landing lights. Gee, I just wanted to say I'd never found a white cockpit light in the 150 I flew. Didn't mean to set him off ;-). No need for a reply. It doesn't matter. Thanks again.--Michael

It's pretty obvious lots of the circles have been hoaxed, som ein front of witnesses. And it's pretty obvious by demonstration that it's possible for a couple of guys to trample on some wheat and make circles. Even though these two 60 year olds couldn't possibly have created all the circles, copycat hoaxers could be invoked to account for the rest. It amazes me why someone would go to so much trouble and energy in the middle of the night, but still, it is possible.

BUT, what I still don't understand is some of the very complex geometric shapes that have been created, and ones I've seen pictures of. These shapes are perfectly geometric, especially as seen from the air. They are very complex as well. How could a couple of guys with gunsights attached to their baseball caps create these complex patterns? I heard recently (and no confirmation yet) that one of the latest circles has been identified as a Mandelbrot set. Two guys with baseball caps? I'd surely like to know how they did that.

It was Russell County at least. I'd have to check the tape I made as to whether it was the city of Russell.

Yes, Keith...the implant issue is certainly an elusive one. Of course, I guess that could be said for the entire UFO phenomenon. It's interesting that the earliest reference to implants that Jerry could come up with was from the early 1980's. However, quite a few science-fiction films were made in the mid to late 50's which involved alien cerebral 'implants' used to control the human mind. One of these I remember was the classic _Invaders From Mars_. So the implant stories (even though fictional in this case) began much earlier than the 80's.

Your case pertaining to the submandibular implant and its' subsequent removal/disappearance is evocative of a similar experience involving a woman here in Chicago. Briefly, this woman had become aware of a series of abduction experiences, prior to which she had undergone an MRI to attempt to diagnose a cause for her chronic back pain. The radiologist's report described an UBO at that time, but told the woman that this was noted in approximately 5% of all patients, was not pathological, and was not the cause of her back pain. In January of 1990, the woman went to have a second MRI done by a physician in New York who was sympathetic to the abduction phenomenon, and was doing a study on abductee's claiming implants. Supposedly, although I have not seen the actual data, the radiologist found 'nothing remarkable' after scanning a dozen individuals and soon lost interest in the investigation.

Another major problem with the implant scenario is the fact that allegedly there are scores of recovered implants being scrutinized by 'un-named' scientists at 'un-named' institutions. Nothing is verifiable! The evidence, as far as I can tell, remains anecdotal.

Keep up the good work Keith, and I look forward to reading your next article in the IUR.

Well, it turns out that there IS a white dome light in the 152, but don't sweat it, there's not the slightest possibility that an aircraft can be indentified from such as that.

That's it, you've confirmed it. This "predictions" file came from Scott Corder. I remember that he made a point of mentioning Bob Dole's hometown because it was the same as his own.

Scott Corder is a gent who started making all sorts of neo-Biblical prophecies a couple of years back, none of which came true. I have the complete file on him somewhere.....

Hi, Peggy

I've been following your "Ogden objects" story with interest, and quite honestly, at least a modicum of skepticism.

I think it would be great if you could post a brief synopsis of this event, detailing the objects discovery and events that have unfolded up to this point.

Apparently, you now have photographs in your possesion which Jim Speiser is going to digitize and make available to the network. Who took these pix, and who actually disovered the objects? What is the apparent connection with Sitchin's material? I understand that the "writing" is supposed to be similar to Arabic characters according to Curtis.

You would think that many news services would be interested in picking up a story such as this, but to my knowledge only_Omni Magazine_ has shown an interest in the scoop.

From what I've seen so far, it seems to be the same old story of too many "un-named" sources. Anecdotal evidence such as this must be verifiable if we are to be taken seriously.

Best of luck,

Hi Jim,

Wouldn't dream of asking you for 29 cents for sending you a drawing of the Ogden Object. It's a sketch I made from a photograph, not the actual photograph. But I guess I did a good enough job because several people have identified it as a "tunnel borer." It is supposedly some 40 feet high. Post your address & I'll snail it to ya.

Hi Clark,

The man who was channeling Tesla (alledgedly) was not speaking in Hungarian, just in a really thick Hungarian-type accent. (I was at the BeckleyCon earlier in this month and attended that particular session.)

TTYL,

Linda
